Participation Grade

Actively engaging with the course content is an important part of the learning process. That means immersing yourself in the readings, but also sharing your questions, comments, insights with the community. This is why your active participation in the forums counts toward your participation grade.

In order to build your participation grade, you are required to post meaningful messages of no less than 200 characters each in any of the available forums. You'll earn full points after publishing 5 posts at minimum.

The deadline to earn participation points is by the final day of the course (Day 54).

Check the Points Distribution table in the Course Syllabus to learn about the points and grades earned upon completion of this activity.
